

Montessori originally had her students knock down the pink tower and have it scatter everywhere.

She changed the lesson to work with the tower cube by cube when she observed the positive effects of sequence, order and control of movement.