Keynote Speaker: Catherine McTamaney "Democracy and Peace: Why the World Needs Montessori Now."

A timely discussion focusing on the ways in which Montessori education affirms the dignity of the individual and demands our commitment to peaceful communities.

Catherine McTamaney is an esteemed educator, author, and Professor at Vanderbilt University's Peabody College, widely recognized for her expertise in Montessori education and her philosophy of compassionate teaching. A triple graduate of Peabody herself, Dr. McTamaney has built a distinguished career primarily at Vanderbilt, where she instructs undergraduate students in teacher licensure programs, concentrating on the social and political background of public education and integrating the arts into classroom environments.

Her influence extends far beyond the university lecture halls. As a respected Montessori lecturer, she travels internationally to speak, and she serves as a significant voice in the educational community through her books, including the reflective works The Tao of Montessori: Reflections on Compassionate Teaching and A Delicate Task: Living, Learning and Teaching on a Montessori Path and, most recently, Only Poets and Little Children. She reaches a global audience through her established blog, "Montessori Daoshi" (www.montessoridaoshi.com), which shares insights on living and teaching through a Montessori lens.

In recognition of her contributions to the field, she was the founding recipient of the American Montessori Society's Montessori Innovator Award in 2020. Her academic excellence and dedication to the university community were further celebrated when she received the Vanderbilt University Thomas Jefferson Award in 2023. She has also served as a visiting scholar at the MIT Media Lab, where she collaborated on designing the Wildflower Schools project, a network of decentralized Montessori micro-schools, and has consulted for the St. Nicholas Montessori Foundation in London. She was a Montessori child and is a Montessori mom to two, including one more generation of Montessori teachers.

11:00 AM-12:15 PM

1A-Navigating Multilingualism and Multicultural Empathy Level: ALL
Institute for Advanced Montessori Studies

Presented by Margarita Diaz

Are you curious about raising bilingual children or creating a multilingual environment in your classroom or school? In this session, I'll tackle common questions and concerns surrounding multilingualism. As an expert in language acquisition and Montessori education, I will provide practical insights and strategies for navigating the complexities of multilingual upbringing and the concept of multicultural empathy as the future of our work and legacy in Montessori education.

1B-The Coloured Beads Level: EC, TE

Presented by Dr. Daniel Jutras

Canadian Montessori Teacher Education Institute / MEPI

Children easily form combinations that make 10 (6 + 4, 3 + 7, 8 + 2) while building a full Snake. This mental work with number combinations can lead to two simple yet exciting activities called Associativity and Disassociativity, which may be new to you. If you are interested in learning the four steps that lead to the full Snake game, as well as these two additional activities, join us to explore how to bring them into your classroom next week and excite your children about math.

1C-Outdoor Experiences as Essential to Montessori Education Level: ALL

Presented by Jana Morgan Herman

AMS

This session examines Montessori's original vision for outdoor education, which devoted half the school day to experiences in nature. Drawing from Montessori's texts, Mario Montessori's Kodaikanal lectures, and current research from the AAP, NIH, and CDC, participants will explore how outdoor environments function as prepared spaces integral to children's development. The presentation challenges common practices that limit outdoor time and provides practical strategies for restoring outdoor experiences to their rightful place in Montessori education.

1D- Coaching for Adult Learning in Montessori Environments Level: TE

Presented by Carrie Allen

MEPI Executive Coordinator

As Montessori educators, we spend years refining our approach to observing, guiding, and supporting children. Yet when it comes to supporting adults—our colleagues, assistants, and emerging leaders—we often rely on the same tools we use with children, or we default to advising, fixing, or mentoring. In this session, you will be invited to shift that approach and explore the power of coaching as a transformative tool for adult learning in Montessori environments.

1E-Changing of the Guard Level: ADM

Presented by Dr. John Moncure

MEPI Board Member/Teacher Education Committee Chair

This workshop analyzes the dynamic forces that impact a school as it changes from one director to another.

1F-Seeing the Unseen: Tools for Neurodivergent Kids Level: EC

Presented by Maria Chaffin

Seeds of Life Montessori Academy

This interactive workshop introduces Montessori educators to the foundational concepts of neurodivergence, with a focus on practical classroom applications. Participants will leave with a better understanding of how to recognize, respond to, and support neurodivergent students, and a clear sense of the next steps they can take to continue learning and growing in this area.

1G-Teaching After Quarantine: The New Children Level: IT/EC/ADM

Presented by Kate Lasher

One World Montessori

Does your classroom feel like it just won't normalize? Do you have children who have needs you've never had to meet before? Is the room vibrating with an anxiety that the Silence Game just can't calm? Let's talk about that! MACTE

Presented by Dr. Rebecca Pelton

Collectively Advancing Quality Montessori Educator Preparation Programs (EPP) "How Does Accreditation Influence and Impact Professionals, Faculty, Adult Learners, Teachers, and most importantly the Children?" Charlotte Montessori School /MEPI Board Member

Presented by Sarah McCowan

This workshop invites educators to reexamine the inner world of the 0-6-year-old child through the lens of radical empathy. We'll explore how challenging behaviors often reflect deep developmental work, not defiance. Through Montessori philosophy, practical examples, and honest reflection, participants will gain new tools and insights for supporting toddlers and young children with greater compassion, clarity, and grace; building classrooms rooted in dignity, connection, and respect for the absorbent mind.

2C- Reclaiming Montessori's Radical Roots: Culturally Relevant Level: ALL
Charles Ellis Montessori Academy

Presented by Jazmin Corbell

Drawing on Gloria Ladson-Billings' framework and classroom-based examples, participants will engage with strategies for adapting lessons, fostering equity, and reimagining peace education. Attendees will leave with practical tools to align Montessori practices with anti-racist, community-rooted values and support liberatory education for all learners.

Using cultural studies as a base for math, language, science, art, social studies, and peace in infant, toddler, primary, lower EI, and upper el. We will go through each classroom level with pictures, bullet points, and student samples of what an integrated curriculum looks like, using North America as the base. Audience takeaway: how to use cultural and geography to teach math, reading, and science concepts.

2E-Freedom with Responsibility Level: EC
MEPI Board Member/Montessori Egyptian Center

Presented by Marie Therese Bishay

Children are cute and funny, yet they are very serious and natural biological little learners.

The only thing that stops any child from learning and exploring is the challenges the child faces, the kind of challenges we don't see but affect the classroom environment. How can we utilize the classroom to help address children's challenges? What makes them much more receptive and open to what you may want to share with them?

2F-Leading in Complex and Uncertain Times Level: ADM

Presented by Andrew Kutt

In this workshop, Andrew Kutt will explore the challenges facing Montessori schools in a climate of economic stress, dwindling resources, staff shortages, and a culture that questions our core values, principles, and purpose. Leading in the face of so much adversity means starting with ourselves as leaders and then looking at what is practically doable within the resources that we have, while also exploring new pathways and possibilities for our schools.

4C- Shaping the Future of Montessori Education Level: All
Canadian Montessori Teacher Education Institute / MEPI

Presented by Dr. Daniel Jutras

In line with the conference theme, "The Future of Our Work," come and explore how we can shape the future by drawing on Aristotle's four causes of being, as found in The Laws of Nature, and translating them into the world of education: causa materialis – the material or matter, reflected in the curriculum; causa formalis – the form, reflected in the way and the method; causa finalis – the end, reflected in the aim; causa efficiens – the agents, reflected in the learners: teacher-guide and child. Coupled with a simple management model – Is; Should; Could; Can; Shall – we, as Montessorians, can explore today and create for tomorrow the future of Montessori in our classrooms in a very practical way. Perplexed? Come and see!
